

Précis

In summer, St. Bernard's monastery is visited by thousands of people who cross the pass by cars. Since there are so many people about, the dogs are kept in a special enclosure. However, in winter, which the monks prefer, the temperature falls to -30° ,so there are few visitors. The dogs are also free to wander outside their enclosure .Besides, at Christmas and Easter, parties of skiers regularly visit the monastery where they are warmly welcomed .

Special difficulties

The word -ever is sometimes used in this way to emphasize• the words like which, and what. Now that he's grown up, he does o whatever he pleases. Whenever I telephone, the line's engaged.

Whoever told you that, didn't know what he was talking about.
